Here's the "plain jane" version of the kitbash -- the decks have been widened, pilots & steps added and new cab installed ...

Details have been modified as described in the instructions and a bell and railings have been added ...

But it's just begging for a bunch of clutter!

A summary of the figures & detail parts used to dress up PC&L #16 begins on Page 5 of the instructions ...

I collected and painted a variety of details ... then loosely placed them to determine which ones to use and where to place them. The leftovers will be used on the next loco.

Now that's definitely cluttered ... but there's still room for the pooches to ride along. Various chalks were used to weather the paint job and details.

An overall view of #16 ready for service -- this shot illustrates the poling rods and brackets mounted along the side sills.

Thank you for your continued support!
